Kelly Cahn director of private sales. Cahn previously worked at the Heller Group art advisory firm as partner and head of research and gallery outreach.

In a release, Sean Kelly, the gallery's founder, said of Cahn, "We are delighted that Kelly, whom we have known for a number of years and has such a distinguished career working in private sales, has joined our team. She will be a terrific colleague and make a significant contribution to the gallery's growth in this area."

Cahn, whose past endeavors have focused mainly on Impressionist, modern, and contemporary art, said in a statement, "I have had the pleasure of working with Sean Kelly's team in my previous roles and am delighted to join such a talented and professional group of individuals. I look forward to expanding the gallery's focus on the secondary market."
